How it Works

The iPosture was developed by physicians and specially engineered to work as a personal coach to help you achieve your best posture. The secret of this small unit is WINS™ (Wearable Intelligent NanoSensor), a highly advanced microchip programmed to continuously measure the position of the body to help create the ideal posture just for you.

The iPosture is worn on the chest as a necklace or out of sight, attached to the clothes or skin. One simple button activates the device, which detects when the body slouches even for a short time, and transmits subtle vibrations to the skin to alert you to correct your posture.

“People with good posture are healthier and happier.”
